

Recommended dialogue subjects for new language learners
(Adapted from Donald Larson, PhD)

Offering to help someone.

Soliciting help from someone.

Greeting people.

Revealing yourself as a language learner.

Admitting your language weakness.

Identifying things simply.

Affirming and confirming identity.

Identifying people.

Describing things simply.

Describing quantities.

Describing possession.

Describing activities.

Describing (more) activities.

Describing activities with a direct object.

Describing activities with direct and indirect objects.

Describing activities with objects and instruments.

On so on...